Miscellaneous information about Pool and Bly families from interview of Bertie Pool Stevens by Berneita Pool Gray as reported to researcher 10 October 1982

1. Reports that Grandma Mary Ann Bly Pool born in Webster Co. Kentucky and Grandpa Wiley D. Pool born in Tennessee although their own reports in the census say he was born in Kentucky and she in Tennessee. Perhaps he was born in Webster Co.

2. Wiley D. Pool had a brother named John with a son named Russell. This Russell Pool supposedly lives in Calico Rock, Arkansas Russell's father was James L. !

3. Logan Pool (Grandpa James Pool's brother) has son named Lloyd Pool who lives in Caruthersville, Missouri

4. Zonie Pool (Grandpa James Pool's ~~brother~~ sister) was married to Leonard Bridges. This Bridges was a cousin to the Pool family - also came from Kentucky

DESCRIPTION OF SOURCE County of Trigg, Kentucky: Historical and

INCLUDING CALL NO. Biographical. October 1884 Edited by William Henry Perrin, Southern Historical Press,

p. 24 History of Trigg County, Chapter I

Subsequent Session of the Circuit Court, — "The third term of the Circuit Court was held in the month of November, 1820, his honor Judge Shackelford, presiding. The following grand jurors were impaneled and duly sworn, viz: George Street, foreman: Jacob Jones, William Cunningham, Lipscomb Norvell, Asford D. Gore, Archer Boyd, Luke Thomas, Whitmell Holland, Baxter Alexander, Zeno Alexander, James Sevills, Zadock Thomas, Stephen Peall, Daniel L. Futrell, Jacanias P. Pool, Timothy Jones, William McWaters and Edmund Wells."

p. 10 Settlement by White People. — It is difficult at this remote period to fix upon the exact year in which white men first came into what now constitutes Trigg County. But from the most authentic of the scant sources of information it appears to have been as early as 1778. ...

Following close after these came several families of permanent settlers, but few of whom have left any traces behind them. The site of one of the first oldest settlements in the county is in the neighborhood of Cerulean Springs, but the names of the majority of first-comers have long since faded from the memory of the oldest inhabitants. As early as 1782 or 1783, Robert Goodwin, of North Carolina, and his sons Samuel and Jesse, were living near where Robert Goodwin, Jr., now resides, a short distance from the village of Cerulean

This union has given five children, three of whom survive: John R., Mary A. and Ollie. Mr. Nolen is a Republican politically, and is a man held in high esteem by his fellow-citizens.

SQUIRE JAMES M. P'POOL is one of the present magistrates for Bainbridge Precinct, and has served in that capacity for the past eighteen years, such is his hold upon the popular respect and good-will. He is one of the most substantial farmers and citizens of Christian County; is a man of great enterprise and activity, very courteous and social in manner, and possesses many generous impulses, offering readily his material encouragement and assistance to enterprises calculated for the general good of the people. The Pools descend from a family who spelled their name Pettypool, the fore part of the word being subsequently dropped, although the present generation retain a "P" before Pool, in lieu of the Petty. The Squire was born in Halifax County, Va., October 14, 1819. His parents, Allen P. and Sarah (Pool) Pool, were natives also of Virginia. The father followed farming as an occupation. He served as First Lieutenant in the war of 1812, and toward the close of it was promoted to the rank of Captian. He was a strong Jackson Democrat in political sentiment. His father was William P. Pool, a native of Virginia, and who was probably of old Scotch descent. Our subject removed from Virginia in 1835, with his parents, who located in the adjoining county of Trigg, and made a crop, and the following year came over into Christian County, where the Squire has since resided with the exception of a few months' residence in Missouri. His present home farm consists of over 300 acres, and another farm of 300 acres lies partly in Caldwell County. These farms are devoted to the raising of tobacco and other staple crops. The Squire was Tobacco Inspector at Paducah, Ky., for two years, and also served in a like capacity in Hopkinsville. He has for the past twenty years been interested in tobacco handling; buying yearly large quantities of the staple article throughout the surrounding country. The Squire is a Democrat, politically, and has been a member of the Democratic Conventions for about eight years. He is a member of the A. F. & A. M., Dick Barnes Lodge, No. 398, in which he was W. than ten years. He is also a member of the Chapter, Cave Spring Lodge, No. 107, and has served in the capacity of H. P. The Squire's parents had a large family of children. Eleven grew up, but only two are now living: William and our subject. The former is engaged in farming in the adjoining county of Caldwell. The Squire was united in marriage with Miss Nancy G. Wilson, a daughter of Wylie and Sallie (Mayes) Wilson, natives of Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. P'Pool are the parents of five children, of whom four are living: William F. P., Wylie A. P., Mattie C. P. and James L. P. The first-named married Miss Ellen Jackson, and resides in Texas; W. A. P. married Miss Alice B. Goodwin, and resides in Hopkinsville, where he is engaged in the mercantile business; Mattie C. P. married first William Reese, and lastly John W. Stith; James L. P. married Miss Lydia E. Dunning. This union has given three children: Minnie F., James D. and John E. Squire P'Pool is a member of the Baptist Church, in which he is a Deacon and also the Clerk. He is a man of great worth to the country, and the present history is made up principally with delineations of the characters and lives of such men and their doings.

GEORGE A. P'POOL is a native of Halifax County, Va., born July 28, 1838, to Peter and Elizabeth (Shotwell) P'Pool. The latter were both natives of Virginia also; moved to North Carolina early, and from that State to Christian County, and both died here, at the place they first located upon. The father, in his early life, was bound for fifteen years to the blacksmith trade, and he afterward labored in that work, but not liking it devoted the remainder of his life to the prosecution of his farming interests. He was a substantial farmer, and a whole-souled, home-made man, always wearing clothing of his own make. He had served in the war of 1812. To him and his wife was born a large family, eleven of whom grew up, and five are now living: Sallie, Rebecca, [Jechonias] Zacharias P., John D., and George A. P'. The latter came to Christian County with his parents when about seven years old, and has made it his place of residence nearly ever since. He has been engaged in farming pursuits; in the grocery and general store business for many years, and was interested in the saw and grist-mill business for about eight years. He has also done considerable stock trading, and is also interested in the tobacco interests. He is a Democrat in politics, and is a man of substan-

CHARLES E. RAWLS was born in Robinson County, Tenn., April 1, 1831. His parents, Benjamin and Nancy (Parker) Rawls, were natives of the same county, their respective parents coming from North Carolina. The father of Mr. Rawls was a blacksmith by trade, and for many years was a minister in the Presbyterian Church. He served in the war of 1812. To him and wife were born ten children, only two of whom are now living: James T., a farmer in Robinson County, Tenn., and Charles E., the subject of these lines. The father was married a second time to Miss Rosa Dowlin, which union gave five children: Usilla B., Martha C., Hugh B., Henry S. and Huldah L. Our subject came to Christian County in 1870. He taught school in early years, but has given his attention mostly to farming pursuits. His present farm consists of 300 acres, and is devoted to the raising of the usual staple crops. Mr. Rawls is a Republican politically, and had been favored with positions of trust in his native county. He was first united in marriage with Miss Sarah Hinkle, a daughter of Peter Hinkle, now living in Robinson County, Tenn. This union gave two children: Foster A. and Wylie B. He next married Miss Mary J. Keys. Mr. Rawls is an enterprising farmer, and is held in high esteem by his fellow-citizens.

FINIS H. RENSHAW is one of the most substantial farmers of this section of the county. His present farm of 232 acres is beautifully situated in a valley between a row of hills, and high land on either side. Mr. Renshaw was born in Christian County, May 8, 1829, and is the eldest child born to Reed and Lucetta (Clark) Renshaw. The father was engaged in the butcher trade in early life, but in later years has devoted his attention more to farming pursuits. He was a Magistrate for many years, and is yet living in Christian County. The parents of our subject were blessed with eleven children, of whom eight are now living: F. H., Luretha A., wife of James W. Woosley; James C. and Eliza M., twins—the latter married W. H. Woosley, now deceased; Sophronia E., married John W. Jones; Amanda, wife of James Yancy; Adelia, wife of W. T. Williamson, and Joseph R. Our subject received his early schooling in this county, afterward attending the Bethlehem Academy, in Caldwell engaged in the saddlery trade. Since 1858 our subject has devoted his attention to agricultural pursuits, having resided upon his present farm of 220 acres since 1865. His farm is devoted to the raising of general productions, tobacco being the staple crop. Mr. Smith and wife are members of the Methodist Church South, and in political affairs he gives his support to the Republican party. He was united in marriage to Miss Sarah J. Quisenberry, a daughter of E. S. Quisenberry. This union has given seven children, six of whom are living: Catharine E., Mary E., Nancy F., Charles E., James L. and William H. Mr. Smith is held in high esteem by his fellow-citizens, being a man of strict integrity and of substantial worth to the community.

JOHN W. STITH is a man of substantial worth, and a much respected citizen of Christian County. His native county was that of Hardin, this State, and he was born August 4, 1849. His parents, Archer and Susan (Tarpley) Stith, were natives also of the same county, and both died when John was young. The father followed farming as his occupation, and was a son of Jackson Stith. He had been twice married. By his first wife, above mentioned, he had four children, of whom there are three now living: Sallie E., John W. and George W. T.—Jesse C., the eldest child, being deceased. The father's second marriage was with Matilda Pawley, a daughter of James Pawley. This union gave one child—Henry W. John W., the subject of these lines, remained in his native county, engaged principally in farming and stock-trading, until the spring of 1871, at which date he removed to Christian County. He has been identified with the merchandise business both in this and in the adjoining county of Trigg, having sold goods for many years, the firm name being Duncan & Stith, and afterward Pool & Stith. He has of late given his time to the prosecution of his farming interests, having a farm of 358 acres, which is devoted to the raising of the usual staple crops. He is a Democrat politically. He married Mattie C. (P'Pool) Reese, a daughter of Squire J. M. P'Pool, and the widow of William Reese, by whom she had one child—Poolie. Mr. and Mrs. Stith have had four children: Robert (deceased), Hattie, Ora and Lottie.

ROBERT W. VAUGHAN was born in Mecklenburg County, Va., March 1, 1840. His parents, Peter G. and Jennie (Vaughan) Vaughan, were also natives of the same State. The father was a farmer, and he nineteen; he attended the common schools in winter, and worked on the farm in summer. After leaving home he engaged in contracting for and the construction of railroads, etc., continuing in this for six years. At twenty-six years of age, he married Miss Laura H. White, of Tennessee. They have five children, all living: Albert B., Joseph H., Julia, Richard C. and Pamela. Mr. Farnsworth had a grandfather of the same name who participated in the war of 1812.

E. J. FAULKNER is a native of Trigg County, Ky., where he was born in 1834, but has resided in Christian County about thirty years. His father's name was Ephraim Faulkner and his grandfather's name was John. Mr. Faulkner had seven brothers and sisters. His mother's name was Elizabeth, daughter of Moses and Elizabeth P. Dunn, who was a soldier of the Revolution. Mr. Faulkner's parents came at an early day to that part of Christian County which is now Trigg County, and improved a farm there. Mr. Faulkner was educated in the common schools and worked at home on the farm till twenty-one years of age. Then he managed business for others till he acquired sufficient capital to start farming on his own account, buying a farm in 1859. Afterward he sold that farm and bought the one on which he at present resides. On December 6, 1863 he was married to Miss S. E. Mason, the eighth child out of nine of John B. and Selina Mason. Her parents were natives of Virginia, who immigrated here in 1820; William Brown, her grandfather, was a Revolutionary soldier. Three children have been born to this union: Faulkner, Ida, Robert and Walter. Mrs. Faulkner died in 1868. In 1869 Mr. Faulkner married Miss Ann E. Mason, the sister of his first wife. He and his son Robert are members of the Christian Hill Grange. Mrs. Faulkner is a Baptist.

JOHN W. FOARD was born, in Christian County, September 2, 1846, and is a son of Robert and Jane (Howell) Foard, the former born in North Carolina in 1802, and the latter in Virginia May 12, 1813. His father, Francis Foard (subject's grandfather) was a Revolutionary soldier, and was wounded while in the service, from the effects of which he suffered until his death in 1833. Robert Foard and family came to Kentucky in 1833 and settled in Trigg County, and two years later removed to Christian County and settled near Pembroke, where he died March 6, 1876; his widow is still living; he was a member of the these words, to wit, "I give and bequeath to my son John Blackwell my plantation where I now live, with all the lands and plantations on the said land, that doth belong to me, to him and his heirs lawfully begotten of his own body," and soon after making the said will, the said James Blackwell, the elder, died so seised, and the said John Blackwell, the son, entered into the said lands, and became thereof seised in fee tail, and being so seised, departed this life, leaving issue Josiah, his eldest son and heir, who likewise entered into the said lands, and died seised thereof, leaving issue James Blackwell, his eldest son and heir, who also entered into the said lands. And whereas it is represented to this present general assembly, that the said James Blackwell, being seised of the said lands in fee tail, and not having any slaves to work the said lands, hath been obliged to sell and dispose of the same for the term of his own life, and hath come to an agreement to exchange the reversion of the said intailed lands with Carter Braxton, esquire, for another tract of land in King William county, containing two hundred and sixty acres, lying on Jack's creek, and known by the name of Foster's, together with the following slaves, viz. Sam, Wapping, Boatswain, Sam, a boy, Sarah, Selena, Venus, Bridget, and Peg, to be annexed thereto. And forasmuch as notice hath been published three Sundays successively in the several churches of St. Paul's parish, in the county of Hanover, that application would be made by the said James Blackwell to this present general assembly to dock the intail of the said first mentioned tract of five hundred acres of land in Hanover, pursuant to your majesty's instructions: May it therefore please your most excellent majesty, at the humble suit of the said James Blackwell, and Carter Braxton, that it may be enacted, And be it enacted, by the Governor, Council, and Burgesses, of this present General Assembly, and it is hereby enacted, by the authority of the same, That the reversion of the said five hundred acres of land, including the sunken grounds belonging thereto, in the county of Hanover, so as aforesaid agreed to be exchanged with the said Carter Braxton, be, and the same are hereby vested in the said Carter Braxton, his heirs and assigns, to the only use and behoof of the said Carter Braxton, his heirs and assigns forever, and that the said two hundred and sixty acres of land in King William, called Foster's, and the negro slaves aforesaid, with their future increase, be, and the same are hereby, vested in the said James Blackwell, and the heirs of his body, and that the same shall pass in descent, remainder, or reversion, as the said five hundred acres of land would have passed and descended, according to the directions and limitations contained in the will aforesaid of the said James Blackwell, the elder, if this act had never been made. Saving to the king's most excellent majesty, his heirs and successors, and to all and every person, and persons, bodies politic and corporate, their respective heirs and successors, other than the persons claiming under the last will and testament of the said James Blackwell, the elder, deceased, all such right, title, interest, claim, and demand, as they, every, or any of them, should or might claim if this act had never been made. Provided always, That the execution of this act shall be, and is hereby, suspended until his majesty's approbation thereof shall be obtained.

CHAP. LXVIII.

An act to vest certain lands whereof Colwell Pettypool, and Mary his wife, are seised in fee tail, in Joseph Mayo, and for settling other land and slaves, to be purchased, in lieu thereof.

I. WHEREAS Gillee Gromarrin, formerly of the parish and county of Henrico, was, in his lifetime, and at the time of his death, seised in fee simple of and in sundry tracts of land, and amongst others, in one tract containing five hundred and eighty acres, more or less, within the said parish and county, and being so seised made his last will and testament in writing, bearing date the sixteenth day of October, one thousand seven hundred and sixteen, and therein, amongst other things, did give and bequeath to his son Wiltshire Gromarrin all his tract of land and plantation whereon he then lived, containing five hundred and eighty acres, more or less, to him the said Wiltshire, and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten, and if no such issue, then to his son Francis Gromarrin, and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten, and if none such, to his son Gillee Gromarrin, and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten, with several remainders over, in case of failure of issue of the said Gillee Gromarrin, as in and by the said last will and testament, of record in the court of the said county of Henrico, may more fully appear, and after the death of the said Gillee Gromarrin, the elder, the said Wiltshire and Francis died without issue, and the son Gillee Gromarrin entered into the said tract of land, as tenant in fee tail, and died thereof seised, leaving issue Wiltshire his son, and two daughters, Mary the now wife of Colwell Pettypool, and Susannah the wife of Charles Lewis, and the said Wiltshire having died without issue, the said Mary entered into a moiety of the said land, as tenant in fee tail, which moiety, upon a survey and division of the said tract, appears to be three hundred and twenty acres, but the said Colwell Pettypool, and Mary his wife, having no slaves to work the said land, and living in a remote part of the country, far distant therefrom, the same is at present rather a burthen than a benefit to the said tenant in tail, and it hath been represented to this general assembly, that it will be of great benefit to the said Mary, and to the heir in tail for the time being, to sell and dispose of the said three hundred and twenty acres of land, and to apply the money arising from the said sale towards the purchase of other lands, with slaves, more convenient, to be settled to the same uses, and the said Colwell Pettypool, and Mary his wife, having contracted with the late Philip Mayo, gentleman, for the sale of the said land, for the sum of one thousand pounds current money, much more than the real value thereof: And forasmuch as notice hath been published three Sundays successively in the several churches of the said parish of Henrico, that application would be made to this present general assembly for an act to dock the intail of the said land, pursuant to your majesty's instructions: And whereas the said Philip Mayo, by his last will and testament in writing, duly proved and recorded in the court of the said county of Henrico, did devise his whole estate to his son Joseph Mayo, subject to certain limitations and remainders therein expressed, and having made provision for payment of the said consideration money: May it therefore please your most excellent majesty, at the humble suit of the said Colwell Pettypool and Mary his wife, that it may be enacted, And be it enacted, by the Governor, Council, and Burgesses, of this present General Assembly, and it is hereby enacted, by the authority of the same, That the said tract of three hundred and twenty acres, within the following bounds and land marks, to wit, beginning at an elm tree on James river, at Roper's fishing place, thence north eighty-five and an half degrees east three hundred and twenty poles to Pointer's, thence south nineteen and an half degrees east sixteen poles to a red oak, thence south seven and an half degrees east fifty-six poles to Fox's branch, thence south seven degrees west seventy-six poles to Pointer's, in the said Philip Mayo's line, thence on his line south fifty-three and three quarter degrees west three hundred and twenty-six poles to the aforesaid river, thence up the river as it meanders to the first station, whereof the said Colwell and Mary are seised as aforesaid, be, and the same is hereby vested in the said Joseph Mayo, and that he the said Joseph Mayo hold and enjoy the same land, with such estate therein, as is directed and devised in and by the will of the said Philip Mayo.

Certain intailed lands whereof Colwell Pettypool, and Mary his wife are seized, vested in Joseph Mayo.

II. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That the executors of the said Philip Mayo, shall pay the said sum of one thousand pounds to Richard Claiborne, Lyddal Bacon, Thomas Winn, Thomas Tabb, and Lodowick Farmer, gentlemen, in trust, that they, or any three of them, shall fairly lay out the said sum, one half in the purchase of lands more convenient, and the other half in slaves, one half thereof to be females, to be conveyed by deed or deeds duly proved and recorded, wherein the names of such slaves shall be expressed; and from thenceforth the said lands and slaves, so purchased, shall be vested in the said Mary, and the heirs of her body lawfully begotten, and in case of default of such heir, the same shall remain and descend to such person, and persons, to whom the said three hundred and twenty acres would have remained and descended, by virtue of the will of the said Gillee Gromarrin, the elder, if this act had never been made. Saving to the king's most excellent majesty, his heirs and successors, and to all and every other person, and persons, bodies politic and corporate, their respective heirs and successors, other than the persons claiming under the will of the said Gillee Gromarrin, the elder, all such right, title, and interest, as they, every, or any of them, should or might have or claim if this act had never been made. Provided always, That the execution of this act be, and the same is hereby suspended until his majesty's approbation thereof shall be obtained.

INTRODUCTION

Virginia is divided geographically into five major regions or sections: the Coastal Plain, the Piedmont, the Blue Ridge, the Valley and the Allegheny Mountains.

While Virginia is divided into 130 political subdivisions consisting of 96 counties and 34 independent cities, it is further divided by popular usage into sections with more or less imprecise boundaries. These sections have different meanings even to people in various sections of Virginia. People in other states undoubtedly find references to the Northern Neck, the Eastern Shore or Southside Virginia not only confusing but meaningless.

Sectional designations in use in Virginia for many years are the Northern Neck, the Eastern Shore, the Peninsular, Tidewater Virginia, Central Virginia, the Valley of Virginia, Southwest Virginia and Southside Virginia. There has come into popular usage in recent years the sectional designation Northern Virginia. To most of the people of Virginia this does not mean the northern part of the state, but that fast growing urban area of Alexandria, Arlington, Falls Church and Fairfax County sometimes referred to as the "Washington bedroom."

When the Valley of Virginia is spoken of by many Virginians, it refers to the Shenandoah Valley. The Eastern Shore is composed of the counties of Northampton and Accomac. The Northern Neck, to most Virginians, consists of the counties between the Potomac and Rappahannock Rivers from the Chesapeake Bay through King George County. This work, however, is concerned only with that section designated as Southside Virginia.

A HORNBOOK OF VIRGINIA HISTORY, issued by the Virginia State Library, describes the Southside as "the part of Virginia which is between the James River and the North Carolina line and between the Blue Ridge foothills and the Nansemond River and the Dismal Swamp."

The term Southside Virginia is used in this volume in a slightly more restricted sense. Southside Virginia as used in this work consists of the counties of Greensville, Brunswick, Sussex, Prince George, Dinwiddie, Amelia, Nottoway, Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Halifax, Charlotte, Prince Edward, Appomattox, Campbell, Bedford, Pittsylvania, Henry, Patrick and Franklin.

All or nearly all of the records of three of these counties have been lost. These counties are Prince George, Dinwiddie and Appomattox. In addition a part of the early ecords of Nottoway County have been lost also. These south-ide counties contributed heavily to the settlement of North nd South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Ken-ucky. Descendants of those Southside Virginia people who ent to these states are found today in every one of the fif-y states.

Southside Virginia had its genesis in Prince George ounty which had been formed in 1703 from that part of the ounty of Charles City lying on the southside of the James iver. Charles City was one of the eight original shires r counties created in 1634.

While Sussex and Greensville were cut from the area or-ginally included in Surry and Isle of Wight Counties, all f the remaining sixteen counties may be said to have des-ended from the parent county of Prince George. This area alled the Southside was settled much more slowly than that ying north of the Appomattox River.

Southside Virginia was the last outpost of the very ucrative fur trade, and this undoubtedly led to the lack f encouragement to settlers. The explorations and trading rips of Abraham Wood and associates are well known. Less ell known are exploration and trading trips of Robert Hix, enr., John Ellis, Junr., and others from Prince George hrough Southside Virginia into the Carolinas a little ater.

Brunswick County was created by an act of the Assembly in 1720, but the area was so sparsely settled that a county government was not established until 1732. Even then the area now largely Greensville County was cut off from Surry and Isle of Wight and added to Brunswick in order that the county might have enough titheables to support the county government. With the exception of Amelia cut from Prince George in 1734 and Lunenburg cut from Brunswick in 1746, no other counties were established in Southside Virginia until after the middle of the 18th century.

The earlier settlers in Prince George moved westward up the south side of the Appomattox River and south to the Nottoway where settlement stopped. Gradually patents were issued for land between the Nottoway and the Meherrin, and then on the Roanoke. But unlike Spotsylvania, established in 1720 also, where large grants were made to Governor Spotswood, Col. Henry Willis and others, no large grants of land were ever made in Brunswick.

The large land holdings of Col. William Byrd in South-side Virginia have been referred to many times. The Land of Eden, however, was located almost wholly in North Caro-lina.

Following the running of the boundary line between Virginia and North Carolina, William Byrd did patent much land in the area now Southside Virginia extending from the present Mecklenburg to the section now Patrick County. Much of this land was in smaller selected tracts which were sur-veyed while on a trip of exploration.

William Byrd sold in 1736 under a sales contract to Samuel Jenner, agent for the Helvetian Society of Bern, Switzerland, for six thousand pounds sterling a tract of land in Southside Virginia described as "a section of land of 26 miles in length, and from three to seven miles wide, containing thirty three thousand four hundred acres on the Roanoke River." He acknowledged receipt of the payment of three thousand pounds sterling. Under the sales contract, the remaining three thousand pounds was to be paid after three years. This tract of land was located partly in the present Mecklenburg County but largely in the present Hali-fax County.

There are no records in Brunswick County and the sales contract was undoubtedly recorded, if at all, in the Gene-ral Court in Williamsburg. William Byrd describes the sales contract as "signed personally by me, and sealed with my hereditary seal in Jamestown, the 18th of August", and states further that "the sale was closed, however, on the island of Acconechy on the 21st of July, both in the year 1736."

No further records have been found by the compiler, and this land was evidently escheated to the Colony for patents were granted for many tracts of land in the same area later. William Byrd may have sold other tracts of his lands in Southside Virginia for which there are now no records.

The records of Lunenburg and Halifax Counties show sales of only a small part of the holdings attributed to William Byrd, but early deeds may have been recorded also in the General Court.

There are many deeds for small acreage which were sign-ed by Dame Maria Byrd and Charles Lewis, of Charles City County, as executrix and executor of the estate of William Byrd, deceased. These tracts were sold by David Caldwell as agent for the executors. Some sales made by David Caldwell were later revoked by William Byrd III, but redeeded by Robert Munford as attorney for Byrd.

The proposed settlement in Southside Virginia by the Helvetian Society never was made, though Matthew Page Andrews, in a footnote in VIRGINIA, THE OLD DOMINION, in commenting on the Byrd lands states: "The vessel bearing the Swiss immigrants was wrecked within the Chesapeake, but ninety-odd survivors reached their destination at the junc-tion of the Dan and Staunton Rivers."

Following the running of the boundary line between Virginia and North Carolina, William Byrd did patent some land in the area now Southside Virginia extending from the present Mecklenburg to the section now Patrick County. Much of this land was in smaller selected tracts which were surveyed while on a trip of exploration.

William Byrd sold in 1735 under a sales contract to Samuel Jenner, agent for the Helvetian Society of Bern, Switzerland, for six thousand pounds sterling a tract of land in Southside Virginia described as "a moiety of land of 20 miles in length, and from three to seven miles wide, containing thirty three thousand four hundred acres on the Roanoke River." He acknowledged receipt of the payment of three thousand pounds sterling. Under the sales contract, the remaining three thousand pounds was to be paid after three years. ers of Nottoway County have been lost also. Those southern counties contributed heavily in the settlement of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky. Descendants of these Southside Virginia people who went to these states are found today in every one of the fifty states.

There appear in the records of Brunswick, Lunenburg and Halifax Counties names of a number of families who may have been some of those mentioned by Andrews, but some of them were undoubtedly natives of the Piedmont in Northern Italy.

A number of county histories have been published in the past four decades for Southside Virginia, but no one has attempted to write a comprehensive history of the section though it is of more than passing historical interest.

It has not been the intent of the compiler to include an extended genealogy of any family. It has been the purpose of the compiler to include in this work as many of the names of emigrants as can now be documented. And it has been the intent of the compiler to include some account of as many of these people as it is now possible in limited research to document.

The early settlers in Prince George were of English stock. Soon after the formation of Prince George settlers from the area between the James and York Rivers began moving into the area of the Southside. These were followed by settlers from the area between the York and the Rappahannock. All of these early people settled on the southside of the Appomattox River. For some four decades the proprietors of the Fairfax grant had no land agent in Virginia thus stopping the western movement in that area. This resulted in the movement of people from Westmoreland and Richmond Counties to the Southside.

The settlement of the Scotch-Irish on Buffalo River in Prince Edward, on Cub Creek in Charlotte and later on Hat Creek in Bedford (now Campbell) County is well known. The French Protestant refugees settled at Manakin in Henrico in the year 1700 within a generation had started moving into the Southside. Many of these people did not remain on the land on which they first settled but moved again.

A classic example of this movement of people in the Southside is that of Hugh Challis. He appears in records of Amelia County but was cut off into Prince Edward on the formation of that county. He removed to Bedford County later and then to Pittsylvania County. He held public offices in each county. He died in Rockingham County, North Carolina, having moved again. Herbert Clarence Bradshaw in his monumental HISTORY OF PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY states: "Thus early began that racial blending which was to produce in Prince Edward a race of British and Gallic heritages." Such were the people who emigrated to other states from Southside Virginia.

Lunenburg County Tithe List for the year 1750.

At the time of the 1750 Tithe List, Lunenburg County consisted of all the land from the Brunswick County line west to the crest of the Blue Ridge, at approximately the location of the Blue Ridge Parkway. From this vast territory, the counties of Halifax, 1752; Bedford, 1753; Charlotte and Mecklenburg, 1764; Pittsylvania and Henry, 1766; Campbell, 1781; Franklin, 1785; Patrick, 1790; part of Grayson, 1792 and part of Floyd, 1831 were formed.

At least nine and possibly more persons were assigned to take the Tithe List from the residents of this area. I have copied each of their reports and tried to the best of my ability to decipher each of their writings. They are sometimes difficult, so if I have a ? behind a name, it is because I am unsure of the spelling.

Following are the names of the persons and the area they were assigned to cover. Some of their areas are uncertain, and others were listed in Landon Bell's book "The Old Free State".

Starting at the Brunswick County line on the east:
Lewis Deloney: from the line west to the mouth of Allen's Creek. This list was taken by William Howard.
Hugh Lawson: from the line to the mouth of Hound's Creek and North Meherrin River
Lyddall Bacon: mouth of Hounds Creek to the extent of the County upwards.
Cornelius Cargill: from the mouth of Blewstone to the mouth of the Little Roanoke and so to the county line, also the Forks of Roanoke.
William Caldwell: from the mouth of Little Roanoke to mouth of Falling River.
John Phelps: from the mouth of Big Otter River to upper extent of the county.
William Hill: mouth of Blewstone to mouth of Allen's Creek, No such list found.
Matthew Talbott, mouth of Falling River to Big Otter River. No such list found.
The following men's list do not say where they are located, but were included in the Tithe List
Abraham Martin
Nicholas Haile;
Richard Witton

Also the designations "Scalps" and "Heads" was a mystery until the list of Hugh Lawson was found, in which he classified them as "Squrl Scalps and Crow Heads".

After the list was taken it was turned over to the Circuit Court Clerk, where it was Checked (C'd) and Examined (Ex'd) before it was submitted to record.

It is my hope if you are looking for your ancestor in Lunenburg in the year 1750, you will be able to find them in this book. Remember that the spelling may have changed several times since then, as not many persons of the time were literate. If you find the person you are looking for, please get the Library Staff to copy the sheet(s) for you. Please do not remove the sheet(s), as someone else may have need for the same.

Willard Hazlewood
September, 2006

Note: The copies of each list are located in the R. T. Arnold Library in South Hill, in the cabinet maintained by the Southside Genealogical Society if further study is needed.

Also: None of the people in these lists were born in Lunenburg County, as the County had only been organized for 4 years, and the tithes were 21 or over for white males, and 16 for blacks, both male and female..

Early Settlers of Me~~kk~~klenburg County VA

INTRODUCTION

It has been the purpose of the compiler to present the names of all of the early people who settled in the area now Mecklenburg County which can now be documented by extant records. It has not been the purpose of the compiler to write a history of the area, but to present basic source material. This material is presented as a supplement to Mecklenburg County records - "Eary Wills", "Marriage Records 1765-1810", "Marriage Records 1811-1853" and "Revolutionary War Records" - which have been published.

Since Lunenburg County was cut from Brunswick County, and Mecklenburg County was in turn cut from Lunenburg, it is necessary to search records of all three counties for names of the early settlers in Mecklenburg County.

The first court for Mecklenburg County was held on the 11th day of March 1765. The first court for Lunenburg County was held on the 5th day of May 1746; and the first court for Brunswick County was held on the 2nd day of May 1732.

Brunswick County was created in 1720 from Prince George County, but the area was so sparsely settled it was ordered that jurisdiction over the county be retained by the Court of Prince George County until a county government was established. The first county government for Brunswick County was not established until 1732. The records of Brunswick County were recorded in Prince George County prior to that date. Unfortunately many of the Prince George County records for this period have been lost. In extant Prince George records, there are references to Brunswick County in recorded deeds and in land surveys.

The eastern and northern boundaries of Brunswick County were fixed by the Act creating the county. The western boundary was theoretically the crest of the Blue Ridge Mountains but in fact nebulous. The southern boundary was the line dividing the Colony of Virginia from the Province of North Carolina. On its face, this seemed a settled boundary but as a matter of fact the actual boundary line had never been settled. After the creation of Brunswick County in 1720, patents were issued for grants of land on both the north and south side of the Roanoke River. But the exact point at which the river crossed the boundary line into North Carolina had never been established. It was questionable as to whether such grants were in Virginia or in North Carolina. Constant disputes brought about the surveying of the boundary in 1728 which fixed the line between the two colonies permanently.

The running of the dividing line brought to light a number of problems that had developed. John Banister of Prince George County patented 560 acres of land on the south side of the Roanoke River on 13 of October 1727 in the area now Mecklenburg County. John Banister lived in that part of Prince George County which became Dinwiddie County in 1752. John Banister of Dinwiddie County sold 250 acres of land to Samuel Jones in 1753 "being all of the land that falls within the dividing line between Virginia and North Carolina". This deed refers to the patent of 13 October 1727. Virginia had granted John Banister 310 acres of land in North Carolina in error.

The earliest settlers in Brunswick County came from Prince George and adjoining Surry County. Many of these settlers, or their descendants, moved into the area later to become Mecklenburg County. The earliest settlers in the Mecklenburg area came from Prince George County. Many of the early patentees of land in Mecklenburg were from Prince George County, but they did not move to the area. They sold the land later to others who settled in the county.

The earliest patent for land in Mecklenburg County was a grant of 2811 acres to Robert Munford and John Anderson of Prince George County on 15 May 1722. This land lay on both sides of the present boundary line between Mecklenburg and Brunswick Counties. Edward and Mary Munford of Dinwiddie County sold the 811 acres on 25 November 1752 to Frederick Jones of Dinwiddie County. The deed describes the land as "beginning at Cocke's Creek" and "devised to Edward Munford by Robert Munford by his will dated 20 April 1734". The deed states also that it was part of 2811 acres granted to Robert Munford and John Anderson 15 May 1722.

The "Cocke's Creek" referred to in the deed is now known as Poplar Creek, and has often been confused with Cox Creek farther west between Miles and Allens Creeks.

Robert Hicks, Senior, of Prince George County, who settled later in that part of Surry County which was added to Brunswick County in 1732, patented 580 acres on the north side of the Roanoke River adjoining the land patented by Robert Munford and John Anderson. Robert Hicks gave 100 acres of this tract to Cornelius Keith in 1734 "for seating and cultivating" a part of the land. Robert Hicks gave the remaining 480 acres in 1735 to Samuel Clark, Junr., "for true love and natural affection". This tract of land on the north side of the Roanoke River was opposite the tract of land patented by John Alexander in 1727.

Between these tracts of land was the famous "Horseford". Captain Hicks, noted as an Indian Trader, undoubtedly had selected this tract of land on one of his many trading trips to trade with the Southern Indians. The Trading Path into the Carolinas crossed the Roanoke River at this point. Near this point, Cornelius Keith was granted a license in 1739 "to keep a ferry over the Roanoke River from his own landing below the Horseford to Alexander's landing".

Cornelius Keith apparently discontinued the operation of the ferry, however, for in 1741 Martha Alexander, widow of John Alexander, petitioned the Brunswick Court for a license to "keep a ferry from her landing over the River to Cornelius Keith's landing" which was granted. Cornelius Keith sold his land in 1742 to Thomas Twitty.

Cornelius Keith was undoubtedly a first generation immigrant for in a deposition 3 May 1739, in the Brunswick County Court, he stated that "he has resided 30 years in this Colony since his importation". He had apparently come to Virginia as an immigrant in 1709.

Drury Stith, Henry Morris and Michael Cadet Young appear many times in Brunswick records pertaining to Mecklenburg County. They jointly patented many hundres of acres of land in Mecklenburg County which they later sold. Drury Stith, of Prince George County, was a surveyor, and his survey discloses that he surveyed many tracts of land in the area which became Mecklenburg, Halifax and Pittsylvania Counties.

In making surveys in Halifax and the area now Pittsylvania County, Drury Stith was probably working as an assistant to Peter Fontaine, Junr. Peter Fontaine, Junr., had been appointed surveyor for Halifax County when it was created in 1752. Peter Fontaine, Junr., in a letter to his uncle, John Fontaine, which appears in "Memoirs of a Huguenot Family", states that "by means of the indulgence granted me, of having assistants, I do not go at all in the woods, which indeed my weakly constitution is not fit for". If Peter Fontaine, Junr., kept a book of surveys, its present location is unknown to the compiler. The survey book of Drury Stith is in the Clerk's Office of Pittsylvania County, but when it was deposited in this office is unknown.

Many later surveys were made in Halifax County by Robert Wooding. These surveys are recorded in the deed books of Halifax County. The busines of a surveyor, while hard work, was a lucrative one. Any patentee seeking a grant of land had first to select the land, and then have it surveyed. With a copy of the survey, he then applied for a patent or grant of the land. When the grant was approved, he then "sued out" the patent. That is, he cleared the patent out of the office of the Secretary by payment of the proscribed fees which were usually ten shillings for each 100 acres granted. Records of the grants were kept by the Secretary of the Colony.

When patented land was sold it was frequently surveyed ıgain. Large grants were usually cut into smaller tracts ıhich required the services of a surveyor. Many of the ·arly sales of land were made by lease with a nominal pay-ıent of five shillings, and later confirmed by a deed of re-lease stating the full purchase price. Sometimes a consid-·rable period of time passed before such transactions were :ompleted.

Since most patents required that the land be "seated ınd a minimum acreage be cleared", the grantee frequently ıired someone to clear the necessary acreage and make any ·equired improvements on the premises. The Court many times ·ppointed commissioners to view and value such improvements. ·rmistead Burwell, a large patentee in Mecklenburg County, ·mployed John Cox, Senr., of Finneywood to make improvements ·n the land patented. Armistead Burwell conveyed to John ·ox on 2 January 1749 100 acres "for sundry work, labor and ·ervices by Cox in improving a tract of land & for 5 shill-·ngs" as compensation for his work.

It was not necessary for a wife to sign a deed in the ·ale of land, but if the purchaser subsequently sold the ·and the wife had to release her dower right before the sel-·er could give a valid deed. Sometimes the release of dower ·as not recorded until years later. In most county records, ·he release of dower right was recorded when executed, and ·n many cases long after the deed was recorded. In Mecklen-·urg County, the clerk left a margin under the deed for re-·ording the release if executed at a later date.

Henry Morris and Michael Cadet Young were first gener-·tion immigrants. At a Court held for Brunswick County on · May 1739, Henry Morris stated that "he had been imported ·rom Great Britain 21 years". At the same court, Michael ·adet Young stated that "it is now 17 years since his imp-·rtation into the Colony". It appears that Henry Morris ·ame to Virginia in 1718, and that Michael Cadet Young came ·rom Great Britain to Virginia in 1722. The Brunswick and ·unenburg records disclose that many of the early settlers ·ere first generation immigrants.

It has been thought that all of the early records of ·oth Brunswick and Lunenburg Counties, with the exception of ·he early marriage records, have been preserved; but this ·oes not seem to be so. Order Book 2 of Brunswick County ·egins 4 June 1741 and ends on Friday, 4 June 1742. Order ·ook 3 begins on 2 January 1745. There does not appear to be ·ny extant order book records between these dates. There ·ppears to be a number of deeds which were never recorded ·lso. At a Court held for Brunswick County 3 July 1735, ·homas Wilson acknowledged lease and release of 52 deeds, ·ut these deeds are not recorded in the deed books.

Many of the very earliest settlers in Mecklenburg County came from Prince George County, but by the 1730's many came from that part of Henrico County which became Chesterfield in 1749. By midcentury, settlers were coming into the area from New Kent, Hanover and Louisa Counties; and a little later from King and Queen, Essex, Caroline and Richmond Counties.

Many of the landmarks referred to in early deeds are now unknown or cannot now be identified. The partial and only extant land processioning record lists roads now unknown, and which cannot now be located.

The names of some early creeks have been changed, but some of these are now known. Avents Creek is now Evans and Cocke's Creek is now Poplar Creek. Both of these are near the present Brunswick County line. Stiths Creek is now called Smith Creek.

Before the beginning of the Revolutionary War, many Mecklenburg County people had begun to move to other states. This movement of people to other states continued well into the nineteenth century. Mecklenburg County contributed many settlers to North and South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky and Tennessee whose descendants are now scattered throughout the western and southwestern states.

The largest patentees of land in Mecklenburg County, Col. John Baker and Col. John Ruffin of Surry County, never resided in the county. Unlike the area which became Halifax, Bedford and Charlotte Counties, there was no other large grant acquired for speculation. Col. William Byrd of Charles City County was a comparatively large land owner in Mecklenburg County, but his grants were relatively small and a part of his holdings were acquired by purchase.

James Daniel, who was Sheriff of Albemarle County in 1750, acquired a number of tracts of land in Mecklenburg which he left by will to his sons. Chesley Daniel, one of his sons, died soon after his father, and administration on his estate is recorded in Lunenburg County. Josiah Daniel sold his land and removed to Granville County, N. C.

Theophilus Feild and Hugh Miller, merchants of Prince George County, and Lewis Parham, merchant of Brunswick County, acquired land in Mecklenburg County which they owned for many years. Later Roger Atkinson, merchant of Dinwiddie County, bought considerable land in the county. The Rev. William Willie of Surry County and the Rev. James Maury of Albemarle County owned land in Mecklenburg County.

LAND PATENTS AND GRANTS

The land grant records, now at the Virginia State Library, are divided into two sections as they pertain to Mecklenburg County. They are the Colonial Patents covering all grants by the Colonial Government, and the Commonwealth Grants made by the Commonwealth of Virginia beginning in 1779.

These invaluable land records are little known to the public since they are not recorded in the county in which granted. The first grants of land in the area now Mecklenburg County were made soon after the creation of Brunswick County in 1720.

During the first two decades after 1720, the number of patents issued were few and the grants widely separated. The population in 1748 of the area now Mecklenburg County, based on the extant Cumberland Parish tithe lists, was less than eight hundred people. Hundreds of patents were issued during the next twenty years for land in the area, however, and the population of the area had increased to more than 5,000 when the act to divide Lunenburg County was passed in 1764.

The largest grant of land in the area totaled 13,912 acres. This patent was issued jointly to Col. John Ruffin and Col. John Baker of Surry County in 1755. The smallest grant was for a little more than one acre consisting of an island in the Roanoke River. The last grant of land was for two and one-half acres in 1918. This was an island in the Roanoke River which had not been included in grants along the river, but is now under the waters of Buggs Island Lake.

Many of the larger grants were patented by people who never resided in the area now Mecklenburg County. Some of the patentees established "quarters" on their grants, while others sold the land granted to them after having the land surveyed into smaller tracts.

Among those who patented land in the area, but did not move to the county, were John Allen, Col. John Baker, John Banister, Major John Bolling, John Bolling, Junr., Colonel William Byrd, Thomas Cocke, Alexander Erskine, Theophilus Feild, Memucan Hunt, Peter Johnston, Peter Jones, Robert Langley, Henry Morris, James, Robert and William Munford, John, Robert and Thomas Ravenscroft, Col. John Ruffin, Wm. Starke, Drury Stith, George Walton and Michael Cadet Young.

Armistead Burwell and Lewis Burwell, Sr., acquired large tracts of land in the area that was to become Mecklenburg County. They established quarters on the land with overseers in charge, but did not reside in the county.

Lewis Burwell, Jr. and Thacker Burwell, subsequently, ıoved to Mecklenburg County where they lived on land which ıad been patented by Armistead Burwell and Lewis Burwell, Sr.

Armistead Burwell died before 1764. The only extant ithe list for St. James Parish, Mecklenburg County, is that or the year 1764. This lists the estate of Armistead Bur- ell with John Oliver, George Tureman and John Westbrook as verseers. Thomas Carleton, Hugh Franklin and John Jeffries, unr., were listed as overseers for Colonel Lewis Burwell.

At Colonel William Byrd's plantations in the area now ecklenburg County in 1752, Thomas Pool, Jacob Royster, illiam Royster and Thomas Anderson were listed as overseers.

There were still many tracts of unpatented land in ecklenburg County at the end of the Colonial Period, and rants were made by the Commonwealth of Virginia for many ears after the end of the Revolutionary War. Sir Peyton kipwith was granted 1,026 acres on Bluestone Creek in 1799.

Many of the streams in Mecklenburg County were named or members of early survey parties and for patentees of and. William Smith patented 790 acres on the south side of he Roanoke River on October 13, 1727. This land was located n a creek in the extreme south eastern part of the county. his creek now known as Smith's Creek was undoubtedly named or him. Butchers Creek was named for John Butcher who had atented 632 acres on the north side of the Roanoke River on eptember 28, 1728.

Aarons Creek, the present boundary line between Halifax nd Mecklenburg Counties, was named for Aaron Pinson a very arly settler. This creek was known by its Indian name, owever, for many years as Tewayhomony Creek, and appears n some early deeds under such name rather than as Aarons reek.

The location on many early patents can be pinpointed, r approximated, by reference to the map following these ages.

The reference in some patents to the "county line" is o the line dividing Mecklenburg County from Granville County, . C. Many of the early settlers in that area owned land in oth counties. They had obtained grants in Colonial Gran- ill County from Lord Granville in additions to grants in irginia.

WINFIELD-PETTYPOOL of SUSSEX, VIRGINIA

The Wingfield, Windfield, Winfield family is a very ancient one in England. The first Governor of Virginia, Edward Maria Wingfield, was a grandson of Sir Richard Wingfield and the son of Thomas Maria Wingfield, the last named being a godson of Queen Mary, hence the second Christian name, "Maria".

This family seems to have settled first in Charles City County. Prince George, that part of Charles City lying south of the James River, was cut off from Charles City in 1702 and in 1704 Robert Winkfield and Jarvis Winkfield were holding 107 and 100 acres respectively, in Prince George. An inventory of Jarvis Winkfield's estate was filed in Surry in 1756.

A John Whinfell died in Norfolk County in 1698. His wife was named Sarah, and his children: John, Henry, George, Thomas, Richard, Susan, Ann -----, Elizabeth Holmes, and Abigal Whinfield. (McIntosh 1-166).

A William Winfield was a headright of Ashwell Battin, who patented 1000 acres on the "north side of York River" in York County April 3, 1651, for the transportation of 20 persons. (C.P. 216).

Mr. Edward Wingfield, on Dec.15, 1736, patented "all that waste land lying between the land of Joseph Tucker, William Malone, John Evans and others in Prince George County, not to exceed 2000 acres". (Ex.Jr.IV-388). On June 17, 1748, he patented 500 acres in Prince George, beginning at Joseph'Tucker's, William Malone's and his own line, etc. (Id. V-24). On August 20, 1739, at a meeting of the Vestry held at the Brick Church in Bristol Parish, P.G., he and George Smith were ordered to procession from Monksneck Creek to Stony Creek. (Bristol Reg. 92). In 1743-47-58 he and Joseph Tucker processioned together in this same district.

Known children of Edward and Mary Winfield: (Reg:)

I. Joel Wingfield, b. Dec.30, 1731.

II. Edward Wingfield, b. July 2, 1742.

III. Hannah Wingfield, b. Dec. 12, 1744.

In 1740, Matthew Goodwin patented 1000 acres on Sappony adjoining his own land and John Winfields.

John Winfield and wife, Ann, had the following child in the Register: Hannah Winfield, b. Feb.12, 1733.

William Winfield of Sussex County is the first known ancestor from whom this family descends. His will was probated in Sussex in 1770 and he names wife Sarah and the following children: (W.B. "B"-285) dates from the Albemarle Register:

I. William Winfield, Jr., and wife, Elizabeth, Children: Reg.153

4. Elizabeth, b. 9/29/71; Gp: John Winfield, Patty and Sucky Winfield.

V. Abraham and wife Susannah had:
1. Clairbourne, b. 4/12/69: Gp: Jos. Carter, Arthur Delahay, Susanna Carter.
2. Thomas, b. 3/26/71: Gp: Peter, Robert and Judith Winfield.
3. Kesiah, b. 1/19/73: Gp: John Malone, Frances Winfield, Mary Malone.

Peter Winfield, son of Sarah and William Winfield, married Lucretia, maiden name unknown. He made his will in Sussex, August 4, 1783, probated Sept. 18, 1788. His legatees were daughters: ANN; LUCRETIA; and SARAH; his brothers John and Robert were executors. Wits: George Boothe, Wm. Winfield and John Harrison. (WB "D"-519) His will was written when his daughter, Sarah, was 12 years old and provided that Sarah was to live with Ann, which indicated that his wife, Lucretia, had died previous to the making of his will.

Children: (from Register and Will)

I. Ann, m. John Parham, Sept. 27, 1788. Surety, Thomas Hartley; Wits: Seth and Lucretia Pool. (Knorr-61).

II. Robert, b. April 17, 1762, evidently deceased at the time of making his father's will. His Godparents were: Seth and Anne Pettypool, Sucky Freeman.

III. Lucretia, b. Dec. 6, 1764, m. Seth Pettypool. (See later)

IV. Sarah, b. Feb. 1771, m. Thomas Eppes (Reg.) Her Godparents were: Wood and Elizabeth Tucker, and Mary Jones.

Lucretia Winfield, daughter of Lucretia and Peter Winfield, married Seth Pettypool Nov. 17, 1785, with consent of Peter

Winfield. His surety was David Mason, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas Lundie. (Knorr-64) Seth, who sometimes signed his name "Seth Pettypool, Jr." was probably a grandson of William Pettypool, Sr., who was a legatee in the will of Thomas Parham dated Feb. 15, 1716. William was given land at Monk's Corners in Prince George. (See HSF, 1-38).

William Pettypool, Sr., was probably the father of Seth and William Pettypool whose children are shown in the Bristol Parish Register as follows:

Seth and Martha Pettypool:
1. Elizabeth, b. May 8, 1721.
2. Sarah, b. Nov. 7, 1722.
3. John, b. Jan. 6, 1725.
4. Peter, b. May 17, 1727.
5. Ann, b. Sept. 25, 1733.

William and Frances Pettypool Jr.
1. Stephen, b. Oct. 30, 1721.
2. Frances, b. April 18, 1733.
3. Henry, b. Jan. 27, 1740/1741.

David Mason represented Sussex in the House of Burgesses, 1758-1775. His brother Daniel Mason of Dinwiddie married Elizabeth, only daughter of John Winfield. Their daughter, Ann Mason, married Capt. William Scott of "Laurel Branch". They were the parents of GENERAL WINFIELD SCOTT. (Rives 452)

Seth Pettypool was living in Dinwiddie in 1790. He moved to Wilson County, Tenn., and then later to Calloway County, Ky., where he died in 1839. His will was dated July 6, 1836, and probated Feb. 25, 1839. He signed his name "Seth P. Pool" and will was as follows: "Whereas I have given my son ARMISTEAD P, POOL (See later) and to my daughter SALLY COOK, each, one quarter section of land, which is more that what I am able to give my other children, I therefore give to ROBERT W.P. Pool, MARTHA C, MELTON, and NANCY T. BAILEY........"

Robert W. P. Pool, mentioned in above will, was born, according to Census record ca. 1787, and died in Calloway County, Dec. 5, 1845, without a will. He married Mary (Polly) Cartwright, in Wilson County, Tenn., March 16, 1811, She was a daughter of Heziah and Hannah Cartwright, and was born ca. 1795 and died in Calloway Co., Nov. 11, 1852. He married, secondly, Chaney Melton, July 8, 1853. His children by first wife were: Robert, Uriah, Hezekiah, Benjamin, Armstead, Lucretia, Mary, Joannah Margaret, Sarah, Susan and Mary Jane.

Armistead LaFayette P. Pool, son of Seth and Lucretia (Winfield) P. Pool, was born in Virginia on April 25, 1794. In Wilson County, Tenn., Aug. 22, 1819, he first married Judith Walker McGehee, daughter of Judith (Penick) and Abraham McGehee, who was born in Prince Edward County, Virginia, August 21, 1801, and died in Haywood County, Tenn., March 16, 1837. Armistead's and Judith's marriage bond was dated Aug. 21, 1816, and is signed by Robert W. Pool. On August 15, 1838, Armistead P. Pool married secondly, Mrs. Delilah Yarnell Freeman, a widow, who was born in Virginia; July 25, 1796, and died in Copiah Co., Miss., Aug. 31, 1873. One daughter of her first marriage, Nancy Cassandra Freeman, lived with her mother and Armistead, and some family records show her as "Delilah Yarnell P. Pool", born July 25, 1827".

Armistead moved about considerably during his lifetime; having lived in Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky, and Mississippi, and made several trips to Texas, the last to Mineral Wells when he was 75 years of age. According to his obituary in the Copihan and the Port Gibson Standard, he was "very uniform and consistant in his Christian character. He was venerated by all who knew him, and in his sphere he was a great and good man."

Children of Judith Walker (McGehee) and Armistead P. Pool:

ARRINGTON of COLLIN COUNTY, TEXAS

by Mrs. George Arrington

The first record which we have been able to obtain for our family of Arrington is the Land Patent Certificate on file at the General Land Office, Austin 14, Texas, which shows where they patented land in what is now Red River Co., Texas, near Clarksville, in 1838. This ancestor must have been Noel Arrington, or possibly Joel Arrington. At any rate his wife was Martha (Patsy) ------. She was of French descent, and it is believed her maiden name was Bois or Bose.

George Washington Arrington was born on this land in Red River County, Texas, in 1845. Within five years his mother Martha and his father were separated, either by death or circumstances, and she was living at Westminister (then called Seven Points) in Collin Co., Texas.

1850 Census - Collin Co., Texas

(Name)	(Age)	(Birthplace)	(Year Born)
Martha Arrington	47 years	Kentucky	1803
E.	26 years	Alabama	1824
James	18 years	Arkansas	1832
George W.	5 years	Texas	1845
Wm. Pruitt	31 years	Texas	1819

Martha was also married to a man named Pace, a Zeke Rollin, and an Ingram. She had, besides George W. Arrington, a son, Bill Pace, a son Jess Ingram, and a son Sherod (Rollin?) There is reason to believe that George Washington Arrington was the only one of Martha's children who was an Arrington.

Martha died about 1882. She is buried in Elm Grove Cemetary, near Westminister, Collin County, Texas. Many of the other Arringtons and related families are buried there also.

Vol. 2, p. 240, of marriage records, Collin Co., records the marriage of George W. Arrington to Hannah T. Hendrix on the 1st day of April 1864, by Y. S. McKinney, minister. Hannah T. Hendrix was the daughter of James Larkin Hendricks and his wife Nancy M. ------. In the Elm Grove Cemetary are the stones: Larkin Hendricks, b. May 1, 1812, d. Nov. 16, 1883: Nancy M. Hendricks, b. June 25, 1813, d. April ---, 1883.

According to the old Family Bible, George W. and Hannah T. Arrington had issue:

I. James L., born Feb. 27, 1866; m. Laura Brinlee

Bell (D. & W. 1713-28, p. 162). John Marks, the other Marks legatee, was the son of Israel Marks who died in 1718, and his wife Elizabeth, who was a daughter of Richard Pigeon, who also died in 1718 (D. & W. 1713-28, pp. 250 and 288). Edward Marks Sr., and Israel Marks were almost certainly sons of Matthew Marks. The names Israel and Edward Roberson among the legatees, the fact that Israel Roberson's eldest son was named Matthew, and the fact that the three Roberson brothers were left together 200 acres of land (the same as Edward Marks and the daughter Mary Davenport), indicate very strongly that their mother was a daughter of Matthew Marks, who had predeceased her father.

That the three Roberson brothers were sons of Nicholas Robertson is, also, practically certain, for both John and Israel Roberson had sons named Nicholas, John Roberson witnessed a deed made by Nicholas Roberson in 1718, all four men lived in Bristol Parish, Prince George Co., and Nicholas Roberson is the only Roberson shown in the records who was of an age to have been their father. Nicholas Roberson first appears in the Charles City Co. records in Feb., 1687/8, when he recorded his mark for cattle (Charles City Orders, 1687/8, when he recorded his mark for cattle (Charles City Orders, 1687-95, p. 109), indicating that he was of age, so born about 1665-7. On April 21, 1690, he and Nicholas Darrell were granted jointly 289 acres of land (Patent Book 8, p.55). We have indicated that his first wife was a daughter of Matthew Marks. His second wife was Jane Tillman, daughter of Roger and Susannah Tillman of Prince George Co. The will of Susannah Tillman, aged 69 years, was dated Nov. 19, 1716, and probated in Prince George Co. Mar. 12, 1716/17 (D. & W. 1713-28, p. 144). It mentions sons Thomas Parham, George Tillman, and John Tillman; daughters Jane Robinson and Christian Abernathy; granddaughter Mary Bethell; and grandson Robert Abernathy. Susannah Tillman's son, Thomas Parham, in his will dated Feb. 15, 1716/17 and probated May 14, 1717, mentions as legatees: Nicholas Robyson (100 acres of land), John Tillman, William Pettypool, Sr., sons Thomas and William Parham, daughters Amy Jones, Elizabeth Tucker, Phoebe, Susannah, and Jane, and wife Elizabeth (D. & W. 1713-28, p. 168). On May 12, 1718, Nicholas Robertson of Bristol Parish deeded the land left him by Thomas Parham to George Tillman, the land having originally been patented by Roger Tillman, father of George (same, p. 228), and Jane Robyson, wife of Nicholas, relinquished her dower in the land Nov. 14, 1721 (p. 501). The deed was witnessed by John Robyson and George Davenport (husband of Mary Marks). This is the last appearance of Nicholas Roberson in the records. Nicholas Roberson was probably the son of Edward Robinson and wife Ann of Charles City Co. This Edward Robinson was administrator of Francis West in 1679 (Charles City Orders, 1677-79, pp. 359, 390), and died late in 1689 or early in 1690, his wife Anne being appointed his administratrix (Chas. City Records, 1689-90, p. 8?; Orders 1687-95, p. 274). Edward Robinson was the son of Christopher Robinson of Bristol Parish, then in Henrico Co., [illegible] first appears in the records in 16?? [illegible]

[illegible], Jr., in Charles City Co. (C. & P., p. 139), and on Feb. [illegible], was granted 600 acres of land in Henrico Co., Va. [illegible] with John Sturdevant (C. & P. p. 273). Christopher Robinson was dead by Aug. 31, 1663, when Francis Burrill gave bond [illegible] administration of his estate (VM, 18, p. 196). On Oct. 19, [illegible], Edward Robinson and Anne, his wife, he being son and [illegible] of Christopher Robinson, decd., late of Bristol Parish, Henrico Co., deeded the land he inherited to Nicholas Dyson and [illegible] Kennon (Henrico D. & W. No. 1, p. 25). Another son of Christopher Robinson was Christopher, Jr., who on June 4, [illegible] receipted his mother, Mrs. Frances Burrell, for his inheritance from his father (same, p. 179). Henry Robinson, who witnessed the deed from Edward mentioned above, was probably [illegible] son.

Of the three brothers, John, Israel, and Edward Roberson, [illegible] in Matthew Mark's will, Edward was probably the [illegible], born about 1700-02. He was of age March 14, 1722/3, [illegible] Israel Robinson, Sarah his wife, and Edward his brother, [illegible] away the land left jointly to Israel and Edward by Matthew Marks (D. & W. 1713-28, p. 967). Edward Roberson had a survey of land in 1772 in Prince George Co. which was confirmed to [illegible] by patent in 1726 (D. & W. 1713-28, p. 762; Va. Patent Bk. [illegible]). He appears to have moved to North Carolina, where, he petitioned for land in 1739 and again in 1745, in Edgecombe [illegible] (N.C. Col. and State Rec., IV, 348). After this there is no [illegible] record of him. John Roberson, the eldest brother, was probably born about 1695-98. Chamberlayne's "Vestry Book and Register of Bristol Parish", shows the births of John Roberson's six children by his wife Mary as follows: (1) Nathanael, b. June [illegible], bapt. Aug. 21 (p.357); (2) Abraham b. July 21, 1725 [illegible]; (3) Frances b. Mar. 3, 1726/7 (p.358); (4) Mark b. [illegible], 1729 (p.358); (5) Edward b. Dec. 22, 1731, bapt. April [illegible], 1732 (p. 359); and (6) Robert born June 10, 1734 (p. 360). John Robyson and Mary his wife on Feb. 6, 1719, deeded away [illegible] that had been left him by Matthew Marks (D. & W. 1713-28, p. 384), and a survey of 250 acres was made for him in Prince George in 1722 (p. 762). During the years 1728-1750 he received land-grants in Prince George, Brunswick, and Lunenburg Cos., Va. (Patent Bk. 13, pp. 122, 457; 15, p. 135; 17 [illegible]; 29, p. 238). John Roberson, Mary his wife, and his sons John and Nicholas appear in a number of deeds in Brunswick Co., Va. and apparently lived in that county for several years. Bell's "Sunlight on the Southside" shows that from 1748 to 1752 John Roberson and his sons, John, Nicholas, Abraham, Nathaniel, Mark, Edward and Robert, were all living in Lunenburg Co., and deeds to and from them show their residence there later in the 1750's. The son Abraham died there in 1762 (W.B. 2, p. 47). The son, Nathaniel, died in Mecklenburg Co., Va. in 1792, his will, dated June 14, 1792 and probated Oct., 1792, mentioning his wife Elizabeth, sons Benjamin, Mark and John, daughter Frances Robinson and her sons Elijah and Pleasant Robinson, daughter Keziah Johnson and her sons William and John Johnson, daughter Patty Robinson and her sons Charles and Leonard Robinson; and daughter Molly Paschall (Mecklenburg W.B. 3, p. 128).

INTRODUCTION

GRANVILLE COUNTY was formed in 1746 from Edgecombe County, but the first extant marriage bond dates from the year 1753. Orange County was formed in part from Granville County in 1752; Bute County (later Warren and Franklin counties) was formed from Granville in 1764. In the eighteenth century Granville County was a gateway for migration to the South and West, both for people coming from Pennsylvania and the Valley of Virginia and for people coming from southside and eastern Virginia.

This volume contains abstracts of all extant marriage bonds for Granville County. The original bonds are at the courthouse in Oxford, North Carolina, and these abstracts were made from microfilm copies of the bonds. There are within these bonds occasional lists of marriages performed by justices and ministers, and as some of these marriages have not been recorded elsewhere they are included here. In some cases both bonds and returns of officiants have survived, and in such cases the date of marriage indicated on the return is so noted after the abstract of the marriage bond. In some cases only a license is extant; therefore, no bondsman's name will appear in the abstract.

The marriage bond law was enacted in 1741 and remained in force until 1868. Inter-racial marriages were prohibited by law. In 1851 the clerk of the county court was required to keep a register of marriages performed by license (issued with the bond). The bonds alone are not proof that a marriage took place, only that a marriage was intended. Marriages could also be performed after publication of banns, and therefore no bond, license, or other official record of the marriage was kept.

WILLIAM HENRY PIKE was born November 10, 1827, in Meade County, within about one and one-half miles of his present home, situated a half mile from Mooleyville, Breckinridge County, to which he removed in his twenty-third year. He is a son of Joseph Pike, who was born in the month of September, 1797, in what was then a part of Washington County, and when about twenty-five years of age located in Meade County, near where he died, in Breckinridge County, April 17, 1882. He was a farmer and a son of William Pike, who was a farmer and distiller, a native of St. Charles County, Md., and of English descent, his ancestors having come over to America with Lord Baltimore. Joseph Pike was married June 8, 1819, to Miss Sarah, daughter of William and Anna Howard, of Washington County. They had fourteen children, of whom our subject was the third. Both died in their eighty-fifth year. William Henry Pike's marriage took place November 20, 1849, to Miss Isabella Manning, daughter of John H. and Susan (Gough) Manning. To them have been born William F., Joseph H. and Mary E. (O'Bryan). In early life Mr. Pike engaged in flat-boating, and after a short time began farming, in which he has engaged since 1852. By his own labor he has become the owner of over 275 acres of well improved and productive land in a fair state of cultivation, on which he has an orchard of about 1,000 trees. He is a member, with his wife, of the Catholic Church, and in politics a Democrat, having served for four years as a magistrate and member of the court of claims of his county.

JOHN P. POOL was born September 13, 1808, and is a son of Logustin and Letitia (Wilkerson) Pool, natives of North Carolina, but of English descent. The family immigrated to America long prior to the Revolutionary war, and located in North Carolina. Logustin Pool came to Kentucky and settled near the forks of Rough Creek, in this county, in 1824, where he died in 1852, at the age of seventy-seven years. John P. Pool, the subject of this sketch, was brought up on the farm, with but limited educational advantages. He has followed farming all his life, and at times bought and handled leaf tobacco extensively. In 1852 he bought his present farm, where he has ever since resided. He was married in 1833, to Fannie, a daughter of Robert Pool, an early settler of this county, and who came here when the old fort at Hardinsburg was still occupied. The following children were born to them: Jane, wife of George Shumate; James; Catherine, wife of Logustin Pool, but now deceased; Margaret, deceased; Mary, wife of Elijah Pool; Sallie, wife of William Payne; Eliza B., deceased; Fannie, wife of Radford Pool. Mrs. Pool died in 1851. In March, 1865, he married Letitia, eldest daughter of the late William Perrin. Mr. Pool is a Democrat in politics; both he and his wife are members of the Baptist Church.

ELIAS RHODES was born in Breckinridge County, April 3, 1828, and is the son of Elias and Margaret (Mattingly) Rhodes, natives of Virginia and Maryland, respectively. His father was born in London County, Va., in 1781, and was brought to Kentucky when but ten years of age, the family settling in what is now Washington County, where he remained until 1801, at which time he came to the southern part of Breckinridge, being one of the pioneers of that section of the county. He was a farmer by occupation, and died in November, 1868. Subject's maternal grandfather, Richard Mattingly, moved from Maryland to Kentucky about the beginning of the present century, settling in Washington County, where he remained a short time, afterward moving to Breckinridge, where his death occurred about 1830. Margaret Mattingly Rhodes was born in 1782, and departed this life in Breckinridge County, in 1869. Twelve children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes: Ellen, Richard, Nancy, Mary, John, Elizabeth, Thomas, Winifred, Francis, Teresa, Elias and Agnes. The subject of this sketch remained with his parents until their death, growing to manhood in Breckinridge County, where he has since resided. He was reared to agricultural pursuits, and at the age of twenty-five purchased a farm in the southern part of the county, and later, in 1868, bought his present home place in Bewleyville District, to which he moved in 1870. Mr. Rhodes' farm is a model in every respect, consisting of 400 acres of fine "barren" land, well improved and under successful cultivation. As a farmer and stock raiser Mr. Rhodes has been more than ordinarily successful, while as a moral and upright citizen he stands high in the community in which he resides. He was married, November 11, 1867, in Breckinridge County, to Miss Columbia Mattingly, daughter of James L. and Matilda (Coomes) Mattingly, the parents natives of Maryland and Virginia. Two children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, viz.: Margaret C. and Mary A. Mr. Rhodes is a warm friend of education, and takes an active part in all movements for the moral and religious welfare of the community. He is a conservative politician, voting for

ANCESTOR Pool, P'Pool, Pettypool

PLACE OF RESEARCH ______ RESEARCHER C. Hartzog

DESCRIPTION OF SOURCE Conversation with Russell Pool of

INCLUDING CALL NO. Calico Rock, Arkansas 3/15/86 - Telephone

1. Russell said his father told him he had a Pool uncle (i.e. James L.'s brother) who went over around Russellville (Fort Smith) - Arkansas to homestead in early 1900's.

2. James L. had only one child, Russell, so far as Russell knows. His father, James L. was around 55 when he was born.

3. James ~~L.~~ was youngest in family of John W. and Sallie Daniel P'Pool. Sallie C. Daniel supposedly died when James L. was about 19. [ca 1880]

4. When his mother died, he went to Dennison, Texas and spent many years wandering around before settling down to be married

5. Sally C. Daniels was also known as Caroline Daniel P'Pool.

6. ~~Sallie Caroline~~ Sarah (Sallie) Caroline Daniel P'Pool had a brother named John who married in Ky., then left his family to go to Garden City, Kansas. At some point he caught up with his nephew, James L., they farmed around Clay Co., Arkansas for a while then homesteaded along with James L. around Calico Rock about 1902 - 1903. At some ~~time~~ point, then John's family caught up with him when he was in Kansas but he abandoned them again and came back to Arkansas to homestead.

PLACE OF RESEARCH ______ RESEARCHER C. Hartwig

INCLUDING CALL NO. ______

7, There was some squabble about land when either ~~James~~ L's mother or father died and that's when the family more or less split up

Conversation of 3/22/86

1. John W. Daniel, Russell's uncle, was a school teacher, jeweler & wagon-smith in KY. Married a woman, had 2 or 3 boys, maybe some girls. ~~#~~ His wife a spendthrift so he left them to go to Kansas to homestead, They found him again but he left them again.

2, He and Russell's dad farmed together — homesteaded maybe over around Clay Co. Ark. and in Missouri bootheel.

3, ~~Russell's~~ Both went over to Calico Rock around 1905-1910 and homesteaded. Russell's family spent summer at Elisha Ark in 1915-1916 and then winter at Truman, Ark. John W. Daniel died ~~during~~ while they were away (just before WWI).

4. ~~[illegible]~~ John W. P'Pool family had gone to Illinois and then back to KY before they died. She died first (Sarah C. Daniel P'Pool) and then he about 2-3 years later.

5, Russell's father worked on Iron Mountain Railroad (White River area) at Cotter Ark. 1901-1905 before he went up to Calico Rock and homesteaded.

INCLUDING CALL NO. ______

6. Russell's father probably in Clay Co. Arkansas in 1900 but also worked in farming all over midwest - Iowa, Kansas, Illinois, Nebraska, Texas, Missouri

7. Russell's father told story of how one of his older sisters was riding a horse during the Civil War when a Confederate soldier came along, pulled her off and stole the horse.

8. Russell's father met his mother at Calico Rock when he went up there to homestead. She had one boy + one girl from earlier marriage so Russell has only a half brother + half sister.

9. Russell says he remembers hearing about a Pool uncle of his fathers who went ~~over~~ from KY over around Russellville, Fort Smith Ark. but then was never heard from again.

The Land Office

Formerly located in the Hall of Records Building, the Land Office now occupies quarters in the new Maryland Office Building in Annapolis. Created in 1680, the Land Office has served as the custodian of such records as land patents, chancery papers, proprietary rent rolls, surveys and grants, and of some court records. A good description of its holdings is found in the publication No. 4 (1946), of the Hall of Records Commission, cited above.

In the earliest days of the Maryland colony, as a means of stimulating colonization, and to compensate leaders of colonizing groups for the cost of transportation to the New World, land was granted by Lord Baltimore in the First Conditions of Plantation. This condition obtained until 1683. After that time, money was required for the purchase of land. As a result, the earlier books in the Land Office, containing the names of persons for whom transportation-land was claimed, provide an important census of the first Maryland immigrants. The Early Settlers List refers to these patent records.

All persons for whom patents were issued, or for whom grants were prepared, are to be found in one index at the Land Office. The names of the tracts of land, listed by counties, and with references to the original patents, surveys, or grants, are provided in a companion index. To trace the transfers of land after the date of the recording of the original grant, county deed books in the Hall of Records should be consulted.

In the Land Office conveyances also appear in the Provincial Court records, 1637-1776, and in the records of the General Court of the Western Shore, 1778-1805. In this connection, the term "Western Shore" refers to that part of Maryland lying west of Chesapeake Bay. The better known "Eastern Shore" refers to the area of Maryland lying east of Chesapeake Bay, and includes nine of Maryland's twenty-three counties.

The proprietary form of government in Maryland required its citizens to pay land rent. A record of these payments is contained in the Rent Rolls. The entries are listed by tract-names in each county. The earliest Rent Rolls were not considered to be government documents, but the private property of the Proprietor. The largest single collection is contained in the Calvert Papers in the Maryland Historical Society, q.v. The Land Office collection of Rent Rolls begins in 1734 and is for both the Eastern and Western Shore counties.

A companion series to the Rent Rolls are the Debt Books, arranged by the names of individual debtors. They provide the names of the tracts and the extent of acreage held by each debtor. Those for the Eastern Shore start in 1733; those for the Western Shore begin twenty years later in 1753.

Chancery Courts heard suits brought before them. In the Land Office there is an index of both plaintiffs and defendants referred to in the records of this court. Some Chancery Court Records and Provincial Court Records have been published in the Archives of Maryland.

The Maryland Historical Society

Founded in 1844, the Society has headquarters at 201 West Monument Street, Baltimore, Maryland. Its main building, erected in 1847, is the three-story, brick town house of the Baltimore philanthropist, Enoch Pratt. It has a library, storage space, and a gallery addition known as the H. Irvine Keyser Memorial.

The Society has a noteworthy collection of Maryland genealogies. Many of these are in manuscript form; a few have been published; more of them are typewritten or mimeographed. Some consist of a series of elaborate charts or family trees.

In addition to family genealogies, there are collections of genealogical notes and the files of several prominent professional genealogists, as well as the notes and files of a number of highly competent amateurs. Worthy of mention are the names of Sears, Wilson, Turner and Hayward. Recently the William N. Wilkins Foundation presented to the Society, carded and ready for use, the mammoth collection of genealogical notes and references of Mr. Wilkins. A calendar of the items in this gift is available.

Louis Dielman was a devoted member of the Society whose hobby was maintaining a file of newspaper clippings consisting chiefly of births, marriages and obituary notices. The value of the Dielman file in genealogical research in Maryland is inestimable. It is maintained today by volunteers who clip Baltimore and representative Maryland newspapers for the purpose of keeping the collection up to date.

In 1946 Mrs. Sumner A. Parker of Baltimore established the Parker to leave the parish, and Mr. Devereux Jarratt applied "for a title" to the parish.

But Mr. Jarratt did not come to the parish, nor, it seems, did Mr. Craig leave. Just what course the matter took does not appear. Pages 66 and 67 of the vestry book are missing and page 68 is blank. The lost pages might have thrown some light on the subject, but this is, of course, a surmise.

It seems Mr. Ragsdale changed his mind again, and decided to let the vestry have his land, and presumably Mr. Jarratt withdrew in favor of Mr. Craig, for at a meeting of the Vestry June 4, 1762, the record reads:

"The Rever[d]. Mr. James Craig by his consent and the unanimous consent of this vestry is received into this Parish as Rector of the same.

"Ordered that the Rev[d]. Mr. James Craig be allowed forty pounds per annum for his Board till the Gleebe is completed.

"Ordered the Gleebe Buildings be Lett according to an order of Vestry made August 10th, 1761."[16]

At a later meeting, August 21, 1762, some changes were made in the plans for the Glebe House, mutually satisfactory to the Vestry and to Mr. Craig.

From this time forward Reverend James Craig attended the meetings of the Vestry with great regularity up to February, 1780. In that year the records show that he was present at a meeting held February 10,[17] but at the meetings on July 13, August 10, and November 16th, it does not appear that he was present. There was but a single meeting of the vestry in 1781. It was held on December 13, and he was not mentioned as present. Considering the condition of the country, at the time, the events of the Revolutionary War then in progress, and that Virginia was becoming more and more the theatre of military operations, there is probably no significance in the circumstance of his absence from the Vestry meetings. He was probably engaged in important work which kept him away, as his mill on Flat Rock Creek was a sort of commissary depot, for provisions for the military forces.

[17] V. B. post, p. 442.

The Vestry met twice in 1782, but he is not recorded as present at a meeting until that of May 17, 1783, when he is not only recorded as present, but along with the Church Wardens signed the minutes.[18]

Thereafter until his death Reverend Mr. Craig attended the vestry meetings with fair regularity.

It is said that he officiated for churches in Halifax County, but the circumstances under which this was done are not clear. Dr. Goodwin says briefly that he officiated "in Halifax County for several years."[19] This statement appears to be based upon a letter written by Reverend Mr. Dresser in 1830[20] wherein speaking of a certain period ending in 1787 he said: "The Rev. James Craig, of Cumberland Parish, Lunenburg, ... officiated a part of the time in this County[21] during three or four of the last years,—a gentleman highly esteemed both as a man and a preacher."

This statement taken in conjunction with the extant Vestry records of Cumberland Parish seem to make it clear that such service as he performed in Halifax County was temporary and transient, and as a guest or visiting minister.

The last meeting of the Vestry of Cumberland Parish at which he is recorded as present was that held July 27, 1793, at Reedy Creek Church, when along with Henry Stokes he signed the minutes of the meeting.[22]

There was a single meeting of the Vestry in 1794; it was held April 2nd. Reverend James Craig was not present. He was probably unable to attend, and was approaching the end of his earthly sojourn. The Vestrymen were ordered to pay the money they had collected "to James Buford for the Reverend James Craig."[23] And the next meeting of the Vestry, that of May 15th, 1795, records his death by ordering "that the Church Wardens of this Parish do advertise for a minister to supply the vacancy in this parish occasioned by the death of the Reverend James Craig."[24]

His successor was not chosen until December 23, 1795, when Reverend Dr. John Cameron was elected "Rector and Minister" of the parish.

Reverend James Craig was not only a parish minister, he was a substantial man of affairs of his community. In 1764 the list of tithes taken by Thomas Tabb listed him for six tithes and as the owner of three hundred and eighty acres of land. Two of these tithes were John Byng and Edward Bullock, probably indentured servants, and at least three of his tithes were slaves. In 1772 he was listed with fifteen tithes, and "a Riding Chair," the ownership of which indicated, in those days, a measure of affluence. Apparently at this time he owned thirteen slaves. In 1775 he was listed with nineteen tithes, while in 1783 the tax records show that he owned forty slaves and was listed with eleven white tithes and a riding chair besides.[25]

He owned a mill on Flat Rock Creek, near the present town of Kenbridge, known in the decades after the Civil War as Bagley's Mill. There is a tradition among his descendants that his mill was a cloth manufacturing establishment as well as a grist mill, but upon what authority the statement rests is not known.

Reverend James Craig's experience with Tarleton, is a well known incident of the Revolution.

On July 9, 1781, Colonel Banestre Tarleton left Cobham on one of his destructive raids "with orders to ravage the country as far as New London, in Bedford County; to destroy a depot of supplies supposed to be at Prince Edward Court House, to intercept any British prisoners or American light troops, returning to the northward from Greene's army; and then to retire at his leisure to Suffolk."[26] In making this raid Tarleton's expedition travelled four hundred miles, and was engaged in it fifteen days.[27]

One of Tarleton's acts as he passed through Lunenburg on his westward[28] march was to destroy Reverend James Craig's mill and the provisions depot there maintained.

Bishop Meade gives an account of the happening[29] and Howe[30] also has an account of it. The accounts do not agree in all particulars; the discrepancies, which are not important, are noticed by the author in his former work.[31] Tarleton, it seems, required the old parson to "off with his coat and assist in slaughtering his pigs for their use." He carried off too, all of the parson's slaves, but all except one, as soon as they could give Tarleton the slip returned home.

Reverend James Craig was one of the citizens of the County required by Tarleton to take a parole "not to take arms, be of counsel, or commit any other act that might militate against the success of the British Arms."

This parole of Reverend James Craig was the subject of the following communication to the Governor of the State:

"To his Excellency Thomas Nelson Esquire, Governor, or Chief Magistrate of the State of Virginia, and the Honorable the members of the Privy Council of the same:"

"The petition of the inhabitents of Lunenburg County humbly sheweth, That in a late excursion of Col. Tarleton's Legion through this county, many citizens were greatly injured in their property; and compelled (in order to obtain their personal liberty) to sign such paroles as their captors thought proper to dictate. We know these paroles, by Law, are not binding on peaceable citizens, thus taken from their own homes: But your Petitioners beg leave to represent to your Excellency and your Honors, the peculiar case of the Reverend James Craig, rector of Cumberland Parish in this county; a person eminently distinguished for his zeal & attachment to the cause of American Liberty; a rule of conduct adopted in the very earliest period and pertinaciously persisted in, through every vicissitude of the present contest; no less esteemed for his charity, devotion and exemplary piety in his public character, than respectable for his vacancy in this parish occasioned by the death of the Reverend James Craig."[84]

His successor was not chosen until December 23, 1795, when Reverend Dr. John Cameron was elected "Rector and Minister" of the parish.

Reverend James Craig was not only a parish minister, he was a substantial man of affairs of his community. In 1764 the list of tithes taken by Thomas Tabb listed him for six tithes and as the owner of three hundred and eighty acres of land. Two of these tithes were John Bytg and Edward Bullock, probably indentured servants, and at least three of his tithes were slaves. In 1772 he was listed with fifteen tithes, and "a Riding Chair," the ownership of which indicated, in those days, a measure of affluence. Apparently at this time he owned thirteen slaves. In 1775 he was listed with nineteen tithes, while in 1783 the tax records show that he owned forty slaves and was listed with eleven white tithes and a riding chair besides.[85]

He owned a mill on Flat Rock Creek, near the present town of Kenbridge, known in the decades after the Civil War as Bagley's Mill. There is a tradition among his descendants that his mill was a cloth manufacturing establishment as well as a grist mill, but upon what authority the statement rests is not known.

Reverend James Craig's experience with Tarleton, is a well known incident of the Revolution.

On July 9, 1781, Colonel Banastre Tarleton left Cobham on one of his destructive raids "with orders to ravage the country as far as New London, in Bedford County; to destroy a depot of supplies supposed to be at Prince Edward Court House, to intercept any British prisoners or American light troops, returning to the northward from Greene's army; and then to retire at his leisure to Suffolk." In making this raid Tarleton's expedition travelled four hundred miles, and was engaged in it fifteen days.[86] westward[87] march was to destroy Reverend James Craig's mill and the provisions depot there mentioned.

One of Tarleton's acts as he passed through Lunenburg on his

Bishop Meade gives an account of the happening[88] and Bruce[89] also has an account of it. The accounts do not agree in all particulars; the discrepancies, which are not important, are noticed by the author in his former work.[90] Tarleton, it seems, required the old parson to "off with his coat and assist in slaughtering his pigs for their use." He carried off too, all of the parson's slaves, but all except one, as soon as they could give Tarleton the slip returned home.

virtues in private life, equally alert in engaging in every scheme for the welfare of his country and the success of its arms; and successful in removing dangerous prejudices from the minds of the people, by drawing the proper line, and pointing out the true distinctions between resistance of Lawless power and Rebellion. This Gentleman, after seeing the cruel vengeance of the enemy, in the destruction of a very great part of his property, and himself treated with indignity and insult, tho' in a very low and precarious state of health; was detained as a prisoner until he subscribed an engagement not to take arms, be of council, or commit any other act that might militate against the success of the British Arms,' and all this under a pretence, that in addition to his other crimes, he had at that time a Public Magazine at his house.

Your Petitioners consider it as a public misfortune to be deprived of the ministerial office which has been exercised by Mr. Craig, since the declaration of independency, for a very small and precarious reward, no way adequate to the trouble & fatigue attending it, but which he can now no longer execute in the manner directed by Congress, without exposing himself to dangers, from which his country, in its present vulnerable state, cannot protect him.

Your petitioners therefore pray that the Executive will consider how far Mr. Craig is bound by these engagements; and as far as may be consistent with the Constitution and the Articles of War, endeavor to have him exchanged—And your Petitioners, as in duty bound will ever pray &c.

This paper is printed in the Calendar of Virginia State Papers[32] and as it there appears was reproduced in The Old Free State,[33] but the names of only seven or eight of the signers of the petition are given in the Calendar. The list in full of the signers of the petition, so far as is known, appears here, in print, for the first time.

Rev. James Craig's experiences with Tarleton, and this petition addressed to the Governor of Virginia in his behalf, and so numerously signed by citizens of the County fully attest his devotion, and the value of his services to the cause of the Colonies in the Revolutionary War.

One of his sons was a soldier of the war of 1812. This was George Craig who served as a First Lieutenant in the 1st Battalion and 73rd Regiment, in which Captain Lewis L. Taylor was a Captain, and of which Lieutenant Colonel Waddy Street was the Commanding Officer.[34]

A grandson, Major Edward Chambers Craig, and a great-grandson, Captain George C. Orgain,[35] and several other descendants served in the armies of the Confederate States of America.

A muster roll of Captain Orgain's Company, and mention of the date of its enlistment are given in The Old Free State.[36] But, so far as is known to this writer, no account of Major Edward Chambers Craig has ever been printed. He was born in Lunenburg County, Virginia, and, as is shown in the genealogy herewith presented, was the son of George Craig (1774-1828), and Ann Walthall Chambers, daughter of Edward Chambers and Martha Cousins. He married Ann Park Jones, daughter of Edward Montfort Jones and his wife Mary Ann Street of Lunenburg County.

[36] Vol. I, Chapter XIII.

After his marriage he settled in Chesterfield County, Virginia, not far from Petersburg. His home was known as Rosewood. The house stood not very far from the railroad, and faced the little station, Walthall Junction.

Major Craig, as he was known, was a brother-in-law of John James Jones, who at the outbreak of the war resigned from the United States Navy. He and Mr. Jones and Captain Archer Dunn, who lived on a place adjoining Rosewood, served the Confederacy in the Quartermaster Department and were stationed at Petersburg. Major Craig had a son Waddy Street Craig, who, at the outbreak of the war was attending school in Lunenburg County. He too joined the Confederate forces and is said to have enlisted as a "sergeant with pay and rations under his father," although only fifteen at the time.

Two other sons of Major Craig were Confederate soldiers. These were John Anthony Craig and George Edward Craig.

George Edward Craig was a member of Company "D" of Virginia Volunteers, was wounded and captured at Drury's Bluff, and was confined, as a prisoner of war, in Fortress Monroe, where he remained for three months after the end of the war, before he would swear allegiance to what he termed a "Yankee lie."

John Anthony Craig was a member of Company "F" of Virginia Volunteers. He served under "Stonewall" Jackson, and ministered to him in his last moments, by providing his overcoat upon which Jackson reposed after he was fatally wounded. At a later time, after being transferred to another Company, John Anthony Craig served under General John B. Gordon, and became his secretary, serving in that capacity until the end of the war.[37]

The Craig home Rosewood saw some of the horrors of war, during General Benjamin F. Butler's attempt to take Petersburg. When it became apparent that the place was in the area where active military operations would soon be in progress, Major Craig, who was then in Petersburg, barely had time to reach his home and bring his family to safety. They were sent to Lunenp.206 The name P'Pool appearing in the marriage records of Mecklenburg County may be puzzling to the reader unfamiliar with county names. In 1745, a William Petty Poole patented land on Modest Creek in that part of Brunswick County which became in 1746 Lunenburg County. The name William Petty Pool in later Lunenburg County records became William Pettypool. The name Pettypool was contracted in Mecklenburg Co. records to P'Pool, and later was shortened to the original Poole or Pool.

NOTES ON MARRIAGE RECORDS

In compiling this volume of early marriage records of Mecklenburg County, it was deemed advisable to examine the marriage records of Granville County, North Carolina, because of the close association of the early families in the two counties.

Many of the early residents of Granville County had settled first in Mecklenburg and later moved to Granville. Colonial Granville County was established in the same year, 1746, in which Lunenburg County was created. Warren, Vance and the present Granville, all bordering on Mecklenburg County, were a part of Colonial Granville County. Many of the early Mecklenburg County people owned land on both sides of the state line dividing the two counties; and in many of the early wills reference is made to land owned in North Carolina.

Until well into this century, the Roanoke River proved to be a social, as well as economic, barrier since to visit or transact business north of the river meant considerable travel to the nearest ferry. This was particularly true for those residing along the boundary line. As a result, the area of Mecklenburg County lying south of the Roanoke River was more closely allied, both socially and economically, with Granville County than with the area north of the river.

It is necessary, therefore, for one tracing family lineages to know the section of Mecklenburg County in which the family or person resided. Because of the division and settlement of early estates, one member of a family might be found owning land in Mecklenburg while another owned land in Granville County. The member residing in Mecklenburg County, in many cases, will be found to have married in Granville County; and just as frequently a member of the family living in Granville County was married in Mecklenburg County.

Since the deeds, wills, marriage and other records of the area comprising Mecklenburg County were recorded in Lunenburg County from 1746 to 1765, it seemed desirable to examine the records of Lunenburg County also. It is unfortunate that many of the early records of Lunenburg County have not survived the ravages and vicissitudes of time; and that there are few marriage records before 1780 that have been preserved.

The recorded records in other counties adjoining Mecklenburg have been checked but there are few that can be identified as pertaining to Mecklenburg County. In this volume, there is listed 145 marriage records from other counties. All of them bear names to be found in early records of Mecklenburg County. Some are easily identified as being from Mecklenburg County. It was infeasible to examine or trace these records in detail, and some of the records will undoubtedly be found not applicable to Mecklenburg County. The primary purpose, in presenting this short list, has been to place before the researcher some other sources of marriage records pertaining to Mecklenburg County.

Notes have been added under many of the marriage records in this volume. These notes have been taken from abstracts of wills, and from other records collected and owned by the compilers.

The abbreviations used in this volume follow the format used in the volume "Marriage Records - 1811-1853" published in 1962. The date of the marriage bond is listed on the left under the name of the groom. The actual date of marriage, if found or different from the date of the bond, is listed on the right under the name of the bride.

Variations in spelling of Mecklenburg County names are listed below. Other notes have been added which the compiler believes will be of interest to the researcher and to the historian.

PREFACE

The Act dividing Brunswick County and creating the County of Lunenburg was passed by the House of Burgesses on 26 March 1745/46.

This Act provided "That from and immediately after the first day of May next, the said County of Brunswick be divided", and provided further "That after the first day of May, a court for the said County of Lunenburg be constantly held by the justices thereof, on the first Monday in every month".

A Commission of the Peace for organizing the new county was directed to John Hall, William Howard, Matthew Talbot, Lewis Delony, John Phelps, William Hill, John Caldwell, Cornelius Cargill, Abraham Cook, Hugh Lawson, Thomas Lanier, and William Caldwell, Gentlemen.

The meeting to organize the county government was held on the 5th day of May 1746, but the exact place at which this meeting was held is not of record. The June Court was held at the home of Thomas Bouldin (now Charlotte County), and the July Court was held at Burwell's Quarter on Butcher's Creek (now Mecklenburg County).

Lunenburg County (as established 5 May 1746) covered a vast area, and this area was eventually cut into eleven counties. That part of Lunenburg County south of the Staunton and Blackwater Rivers was cut off in 1752 to form the County of Halifax.

The area north of these rivers, and west of the present County of Charlotte (which then included a part of the present County of Appomattox), was cut off in 1753 to form the County of Bedford. After that date, Lunenburg County consisted of the area now Charlotte, Lunenburg and Mecklenburg Counties until 1765. Charlotte and Mecklenburg Counties were cut from Lunenburg County in 1765.

With the exception of an adjustment in the county line, between Charlotte and Lunenburg Counties in 1778, the area of Lunenburg County has been the same since 1765. A small section of Charlotte County was cut off in 1778, and added to Lunenburg County.

Cumberland Parish was established as the first parish of the new county. The area of this parish was reduced when Halifax and Bedford Counties were cut from Lunenburg. Cumberland Parish was cut into Cornwall and Cumberland in 1757. Cornwall Parish became Charlotte County in 1765. The parish was divided again in 1761 into Cumberland and St. James, and the latter parish became Mecklenburg County in 1765.

Clayton Torrence, in "Virginia Wills and Administration - 1632-1800", published in 1930, stated that these records of Lunenburg County were complete. But it now appears that this statement has to be questioned. There seem to be quite a number of records of wills and administrations now missing.

The earliest records of wills and administrations for Lunenburg County are bound in the back of Deed Book 1. The will books then begin with Will Book No. 1, and are numbered consecutively. The first of these records in Deed Book 1, is dated 7 July 1746, and the last entry is dated 2 April 1751.

While the first entry in Will Book 1 is dated 1 Dec. 1746, this is the only entry for the year 1746. There is only one entry recorded for the year 1747. The records are then in chronological order to 1 May 1759, but on page 254 there is found an entry dated 6 March 1748/49. Subsequent dates of recording are mixed. The first entry in Will Book 2 gives date of recording as 3 Aug. 1762, but this is followed by an entry recorded 5 Aug. 1760. The third entry is listed as being recorded 1 June 1762, and is followed by an entry recorded 5 May 1761.

This seems to indicate that the early wills and administrations were not recorded in books but compiled at a later date from loose papers then extant. An examination of the Court Order Books discloses orders without corresponding entries in the will books. The compilers can only conclude that many records were never recorded and are now lost.

The Court Order Books are intact, and with one exception are numbered consecutively. Each book has a separate index. Between Order Book 2 and 3, there are two volumes containing more than a thousand pages which are numbered 2½-A and 2½-B. There are no indexes for these two volumes. Chronologically these two volumes follow Order Book 2.

Lunenburg County does not have any Guardian Books, and records of the appointments of guardians are found in the order books. The accounts of guardianships are recorded also in the order books.

Because so many references to early estates appear in the order books without corresponding entry in the will books, the compilers have included entries from the order books as an annotation to this volume. These notes are believed to be of value in placing family relationship not disclosed in the will books.

After the establishment of Cornwall Parish, there appear in the order books many orders of the court directed to the church wardens of Cornwall Parish to bind out children.

These orders do not give the names of the parents, or indicate whether the parents were living or dead. But from the number of such orders, it seems that one or both of the parents were dead though not indicated in the orders. These orders have not been included in the annotations given.

There appears in the order books occasional entries of orders to church wardens to bind out children "for reasons known to the Court", but without further explanation. This qualification, however, does not appear in many of the orders.

The records in this volume cover the period 1746 to 1766. The area of Lunenburg County was so vast that after 1752-1753 many of the names appearing in this volume have to be searched for in the records of Halifax and Bedford Counties.
